Evolve 21: Highlighting plant-forward innovations

The theme for this year, 'Evolv21,' addresses India's dire need for alternatives at the intersection of food, material technology, innovation, food security, bio-economy, and resource deployment.

The conference is dedicated to a deep dive into some of the most challenging questions faced by food technologists, entrepreneurs, scientists, doctors, nutritionists, and medical institutions today. We share revolutionary studies and discuss the advancement and limitations of plant-based foods and materials.
