

Azelis will distribute CP Kelco's product lines in Australia

27 September 2021 | News

CP Kelco, a global leader of nature-based ingredient solutions, announced the extension of its distribution relationship with Azelis in the Australia and New Zealand markets. CP Kelco's product range is a significant addition to Azelis' portfolio and the new distribution agreement reflects the strong collaboration between both companies.

CP Kelco's product range is a significant addition to Azelis' portfolio and the new distribution agreement reflects the strong collaboration between both companies.

CP Kelco, a global leader of nature-based ingredient solutions, announced the extension of its distribution relationship with Azelis in the Australia and New Zealand markets. CP Kelco's product range is a significant addition to Azelis' portfolio and the new distribution agreement reflects the strong collaboration between both companies.

Under the new collaboration, Azelis will distribute CP Kelco's product lines for Consumer & Industrial (C&I) and Food applications, including GENU® Pectin, KELCOGEL® Gellan Gum, GENU® Carrageenan, KELTROL® Xanthan Gum, KELCO-VIS® Diutan Gum (excluding personal care and construction applications), CELLULON Fermentation-Derived Cellulose (excluding personal care applications) and the newest addition, NUTRAVA™ Citrus Fiber.

Richard Yin, Head of Commercial for Asia Pacific, stated, "CP Kelco is continuously looking at ways to collaborate with companies that not only support our culture of customer success, but also our ambitious growth goals. Expanding our alliance with Azelis in these countries is an exciting step forward."

Laurent Nataf, President and CEO of Asia Pacific at Azelis, added, "We are thrilled about this expansion of our appointment as a great recognition of the trust and confidence our valued principal CP Kelco puts into us. Our goal is to deliver from the start the very best service to existing and new customers while reducing complexity for CP Kelco."

CP Kelco is a nature-based ingredient solutions company with approximately 90 years of experience working with food, beverage, consumer and industrial product manufacturers worldwide.