Providing access to a wider scope of innovative ingredients

Belgium headquartered company Azelis, a leading innovation service provider in the specialty chemicals and food ingredients industry, has announced the expansion of its partnership with Netherlands-based Corbion, a leading provider of lactic acid, lactates & derivatives and fermentation & preservation ingredients for advanced preservation, nutritional and flavour enhancement solutions. Effective April 1st 2023, this mandate builds on successful partnerships with Corbion in India and Indonesia, adding Corbion's portfolio of ingredients to Azelis' Food & Nutrition offering in Malaysia and Singapore.

Corbion is a leading global ingredient manufacturer with more than 100 years of experience and a strong commitment to safety, quality, innovation, and performance. Corbion leverages their unique expertise in fermentation and other processes to deliver sustainable solutions for food production, health, and the planet. Thanks to their innovative portfolio, Corbion supports customers in the food & nutrition industry with ingredients that preserve quality and safety, boost performance, enhance flavor and improve the overall nutritional profile of a formulation, with a large panel of clean label alternatives.

The expanded partnership with Corbion strengthens Azelis' lateral value chain with additional advanced solutions applicable for meat & fish, plant-based alternatives, beverage, bakery, dairy, and snacks and enables the group to further meet market demand for solutions with clean label applications.
