FFOODS Spectrum
perspectives on food technologies & business
ASIA

KosmodeHealth wins 2023 SICC awards in collaboration with NestlÃ© Singapore

13 December 2023 | News

This esteemed award recognises the groundbreaking partnership in repurposing Spent Barley Grains intoÂ W0WÂ®noodle, a revolutionary functional food designed for blood sugar management

This esteemed award recognises the groundbreaking partnership in repurposing Spent Barley Grains intoÂ W0WÂ®noodle, a revolutionary functional food designed for blood sugar management

KosmodeHealth Singapore, announces its triumphant win of "The Most Transformational Collaboration" at the prestigious 2023 SICC Awards, in collaboration with NestlÃ© Singapore Pte Ltd and NestlÃ© R&D Centre Pte Ltd. This esteemed award recognises the groundbreaking partnership in repurposing Spent Barley Grains into W0WÂ®noodle, a revolutionary functional food designed for blood sugar management.

"This year's winner of the SICC Most Transformational Collaboration Award provides each of us with a masterclass in collaborative innovation and demonstrates the power of transformative sustainability coupled with responsible leadership. KosmodeHealth Singapore and its collaborators NestlÃ© Singapore Pte Ltd and NestlÃ© R&D Centre Pte Ltd came together to transform Spent Barley Grains into high protein & fibre ingredients for better human nutrition. They took what was traditionally an unused food side stream and transformed it into something beneficial. A true, transformative example of a circular model of production. It is easy to see why the judges awarded these collaborators." Victor Mills, Chief Executive, Singapore International Chamber of Commerce.