Azelis, a leading innovation service provider in the speciality chemicals and food ingredients industry announced that it has been included in Euronext's BELX ESG Index, as one of the 20 listed companies that demonstrate the best ESG practices. This inclusion recognises Azelis's commitment to a sustainable future and is a testament to its leadership in sustainability.

The BELX ESG Index identifies and tracks the 20 highest-ranking companies in Belgium that demonstrate the lowest environmental, social and governance (ESG) risks. It also serves investors as a reference to better identify those companies that focus on a more sustainable future by combining economic results with sustainability goals. Only two years after becoming publicly listed, Azelis is proud to be part of that index.

Earlier this year, Morningstar Sustainalytics – a global leader in ESG research and data - gave Azelis the best ESG risk score in the industry, and to enhance the robustness of Azelis's sustainability reporting in 2022, several of the KPIs within the sustainability strategy obtained ISAE 3000 limited assurance from an independent auditor.

Being included in the BELX ESG Index further confirms the success of Azelis's sustainability strategy, Action 2025. Through Action 2025, Azelis aims to be the world-leading distributor of sustainable solutions and services in the speciality chemicals distribution industry, and this recognition underscores Azelis's leadership in sustainability.
