

Australian Oilseeds to expand operations to US from July 2024

11 April 2024 | News

AOI will, through its subsidiary company,Â Good Earth Oils, distribute Australian cold pressed NON-GMO canola oil and olive oil to retail and wholesalers in the United States

AOI will, through its subsidiary company,Â Good Earth Oils, distribute Australian cold pressed NON-GMO canola oil and olive oil to retail and wholesalers in the United States

Australian Oilseeds Holdings Limited (AOI) announced that it will be expanding its Australian operations to the United States effective July 2024. A pioneer inÂ regenerativeÂ farming methods, AOI will, through its subsidiary company,Â Good Earth Oils, distribute Australian cold pressed NON-GMO canola oil and olive oil to retail and wholesalers in the United States.

AOI and Good Earth Oils purchase its NON-GMO canola seeds and olive oil from farmers who are reducing their use of chemicals in their farming systems. Moreover, they have an unwavering commitment to sustainability, investing in renewable energy (i.e., solar & biodiesel), and low-impact packaging initiatives.

AOI processes oilseeds through a cold-pressed process without the use of any chemicals which results in the production of higher quality and healthier oils that retain natural vitamins, antioxidants and healthy omega fatty acids. AOIâ??s carbon footprint is 40-50 per cent lower than conventional canola oil processors. See more information at the Australian Oilseeds website: www.australianoilseeds.au.