FFOODS Spectrum
perspectives on food technologies & business
ASIA

Burger King opens biggest outlet in Singapore

01 February 2018 | News

Singapore - Fast-food chain Burger King recently opened its biggest outlet in Singapore in Bedok.

The restaurant also features running tracks and individual self-ordering pods.

Singapore - Fast-food chain Burger King recently opened its biggest outlet in Singapore in Bedok.

The 239-seat restaurant at Heartbeat@Bedok, which sprawls over 5,281 sq ft, features a quiet study corner with electric plugs and free Wi-Fi.

The outlet was designed to resemble the two chambers of a human heart, said Burger King in a statement on Wednesday.

The restaurant also features running tracks and individual self-ordering pods.

Customers who visited the new outlet on Sunday received a small cup of iced Milo or Sjora Strawberry Kiwi drink with any purchase.