NFFOODS Spectrum
perspectives on food technologies & business
ASIA

FARE announces appointment of Lisa Gable as CEO

08 June 2018 | News

Food Allergy Research & Education (FARE) is pleased to announce the appointment of Lisa Gable as CEO effective June 11, 2018. Gable, a former U.S. Ambassador, Presidential advisor and corporate and nonprofit executive brings over 30 years of leadership experience to FARE, having worked at the highest levels across the public health, business, government, and military sectors. **

As the former President of the Healthy Weight Commitment Foundation, Gable created and led a coalition of food and beverage industry corporations and public health and government agencies resulting in the reduction of 6.4 trillion calories from the American diet.

Food Allergy Research & Education (FARE) is pleased to announce the appointment of Lisa Gable as CEO effective June 11, 2018. Gable, a former U.S. Ambassador, Presidential advisor and corporate and nonprofit executive brings over 30 years of leadership experience to FARE, having worked at the highest levels across the public health, business, government, and military sectors.

Lisa Gable has served four U.S. presidents and two governors, counseled Fortune 500 CEOs, and represented global public-private partnerships and nonproï¬ts with an end goal of moving organizations to higher levels of performance. As the former President of the Healthy Weight Commitment Foundation, Gable created and led a coalition of food and beverage industry corporations and public health and government agencies resulting in the reduction of 6.4 trillion calories from the American diet.

Gable succeeds Dr. James R. Baker, Jr., who announced his resignation in February and will remain engaged with FARE as a medical advisor.

Food Allergy Research & Education (FARE) works on behalf of the 15 million Americans with food allergies, including all those at risk for life-threatening anaphylaxis.